Introduction

I am Co-met' from Mars!

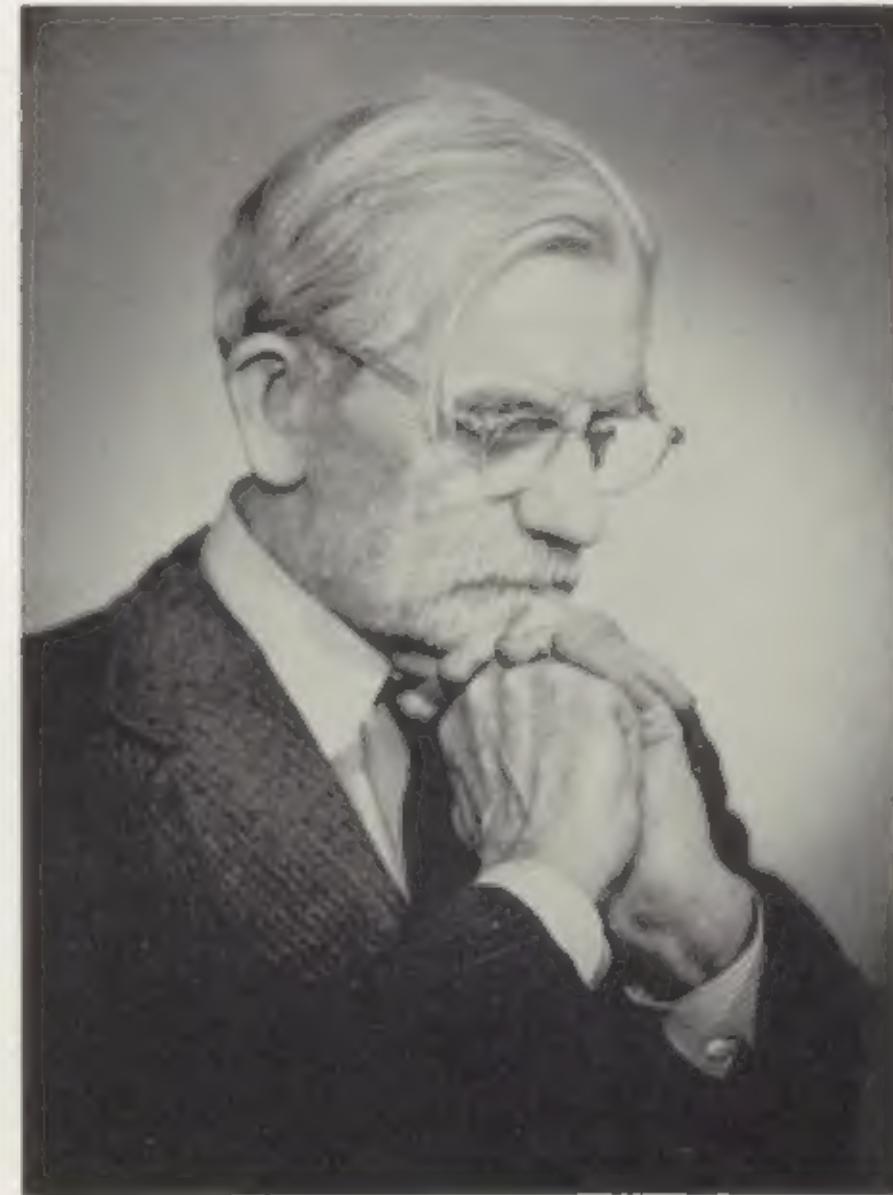

I was sent to this planet from my home to investigate strange cosmic vibrations reaching Mars from your planet, Earth. You've probably never heard of my visit to your school because, you see, this was a very hushed-up affair. I traced the vibrations to BHS and learned that they were caused by the student enthusiasm in educational and extracurricular activities.

X-34, my chief, then commanded me to prepare a detailed report on the activities and the students who caused the cosmic vibrations. My mission was to find out as much as possible about the BHS students; whether you were friendly or unfriendly, barbaric or reasonably civilized, and so forth.

Before I present this report to my commander, I think it is only fair to give you a preview of my findings. I hope you will find this a full, fascinating report on the things that went on in your school.

Dedication

This report is dedicated to—
Dr. H. K. Shumaker

—who, as Chairman of the Board of Education has been actively interested in the youth of Bellevue;
—who has helped us in times of trouble as well as sickness;
—whose guiding hand has directed the trend of community affairs.

TO HIM,
IS DEDICATED THE COMET
OF

Junior-Senior Prom

The streets and parks of "gay Paree" appeared in the B.H.S. gym for the "April in Paris" Jr.-Sr. Prom, April 17, sponsored by the junior class. Reigning over the event were the senior queen, Ila Warner, and junior queen, Maureen Moran.

Ernie Duffield and his band presented the music for the gala affair. The center attraction consisted of a fountain with running water and live fish and turtles adding to the novelty and beauty.

Chairmen of the committees were Dance Band—Edward Roberts; Food—Hazel Bellamy; Program and Invitations—Molly Furlong; Entertainment—Robert TerVeen; Decorations—Tanya Ransom.

Concert Band

Under the able direction of Duane Corbett, the BHS band this year had a most successful season. The red and white marching unit was led by majorette, Jo Sberna. Many unusual marching formations were inaugurated this year which consisted of precision drill combined with dance steps and fancy marching. This 81-piece band entertained at the football contests and the programs were received with hearty ovations from the spectators.

The band also contributed much toward making the annual concert a success. It was at this entertainment that Eugene Wymbissinger made his appearance as student director. He ably directed the band selections "Gay Vienna March" and "Waves of the Danube".

The high school's own dance band, "The Bell Boys," played for the dance following the concert. Previously the band had played at the athletic banquet. Duane Corbett handles the piano for the orchestra with George Woodward on trumpet, David Stedman, drum, Dick Edwards, alto sax, and Michael Straziuso on the tenor sax. Mr. Corbett makes all arrangements for the young musicians.

Presenting the Faculty

My first faculty visit was to Joe Ayers, a graduate of Ohio Northern with a B.S. degree. He showed me the globe and told me much about American and world history.

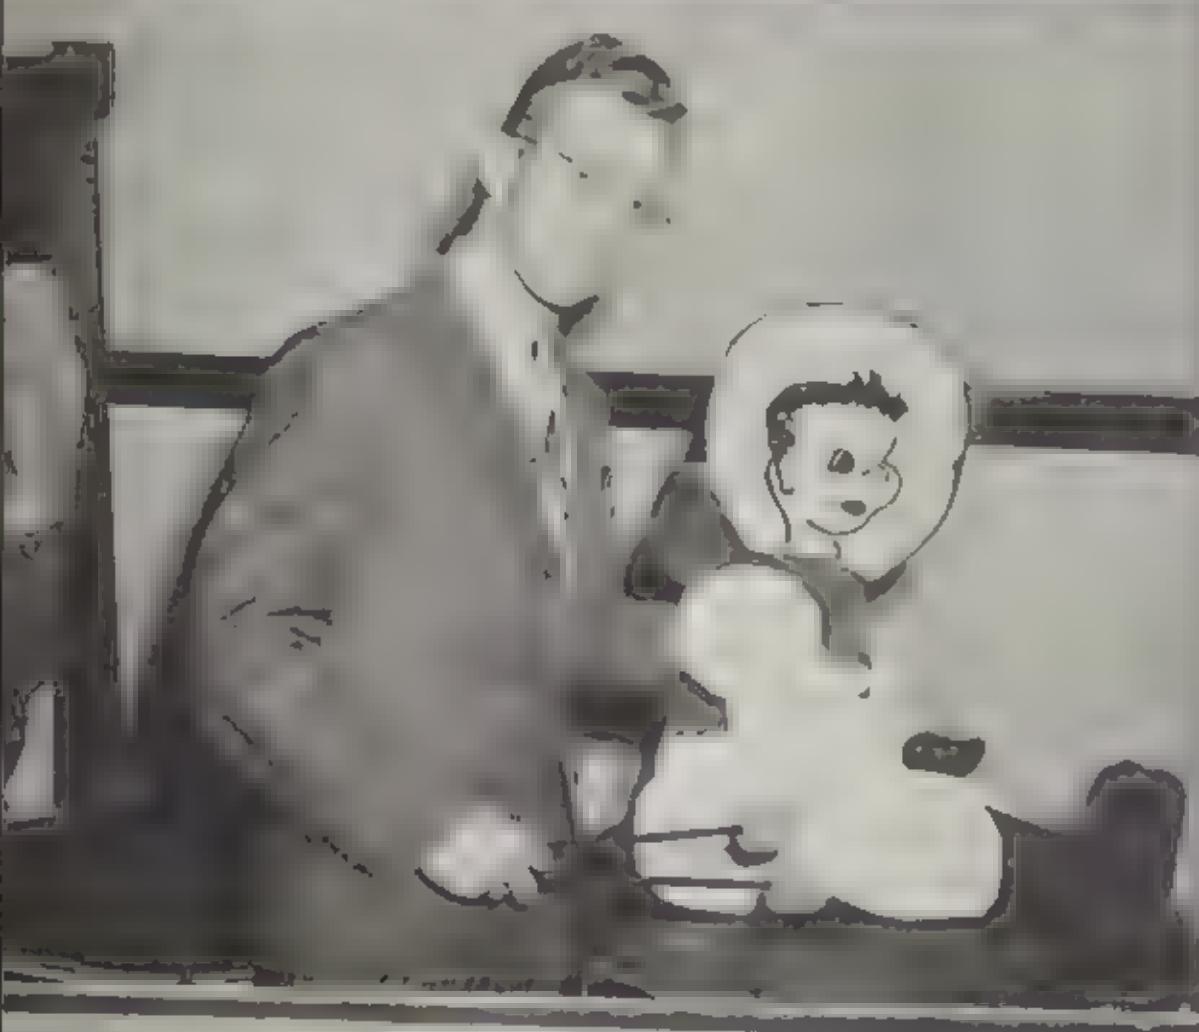

Erma Buffington made square roots seem easy. A graduate of Wittenberg College with a B.A. degree, she now teaches math and commercial subjects.

Stepping into Carmen Conte's classroom, I was introduced to the Pan-American Union Flags, Miss Conte, who hails from Michigan, graduated from Northern Michigan College with a B.A. degree, and teaches Spanish and history at BHS.

Elizabeth Foulk, English teacher, was surrounded by best sellers when I arrived at her room. She graduated from Bowling Green State University with a B.S. degree and from Ohio State University with a M.A. degree.

Music flowing from the band room drew me in that direction where I met the band director, Duane Corbett. He is a graduate of West Liberty State College with a B.A. degree and University of Michigan with a M.M. degree.

Next I went to see Mary Cooper who pointed out the United States on the map and told me some of its history. Miss Cooper, who teaches social studies, has a B.A. from Ohio University and a M.A. from Ohio State University.

Next I dropped in on Arch Krumm, a graduate of Capital University with a B.S. degree. He explained to me, as he does to his music students, the methods of raising and lowering a musical note

I then visited Richard MacNealy, physical education director, who instructed me in calisthenics. He received a B.S. degree from Michigan College of Education

A room of books drew my attention next. There I was introduced to the librarian, Viola McCombs, who graduated with a B.A. degree from the University of Wisconsin

Entering the Commercial Arts room, I overheard Rolland Morris, a graduate of Kent State University with a B.S. degree, explaining the use of the mimeograph machine to his office practice students

Playing volleyball became fun for me when Genevieve Pendleton explained how to bat the ball over the net. Mrs. Pendleton, who teaches girls' physical education, received a B.S. degree from Bowling Green State University and a M.A. degree from Ohio State University

Esther Schachtele recorded my voice on a miraculous machine called a wire recorder. A graduate of Ohio University with a B.S. degree, she now teaches English and speech

Stepping into Jan Schaffer's class room, I was invited to view many things under a microscope and a magnifying glass. Mr Schaffer, who hails from Bowling Green State University with a B.S degree, teaches science courses

I then went to see Lowell Shaffer, who pointed out to me how to handle a football correctly. He holds a B.S. degree from Ohio Northern and, besides being football coach, teaches biology

Pauline Shaffer was surrounded by dress material upon which she was sewing when I arrived at her room. She graduated from Ohio State University with a B.S degree and now teaches Home Economics at BHS

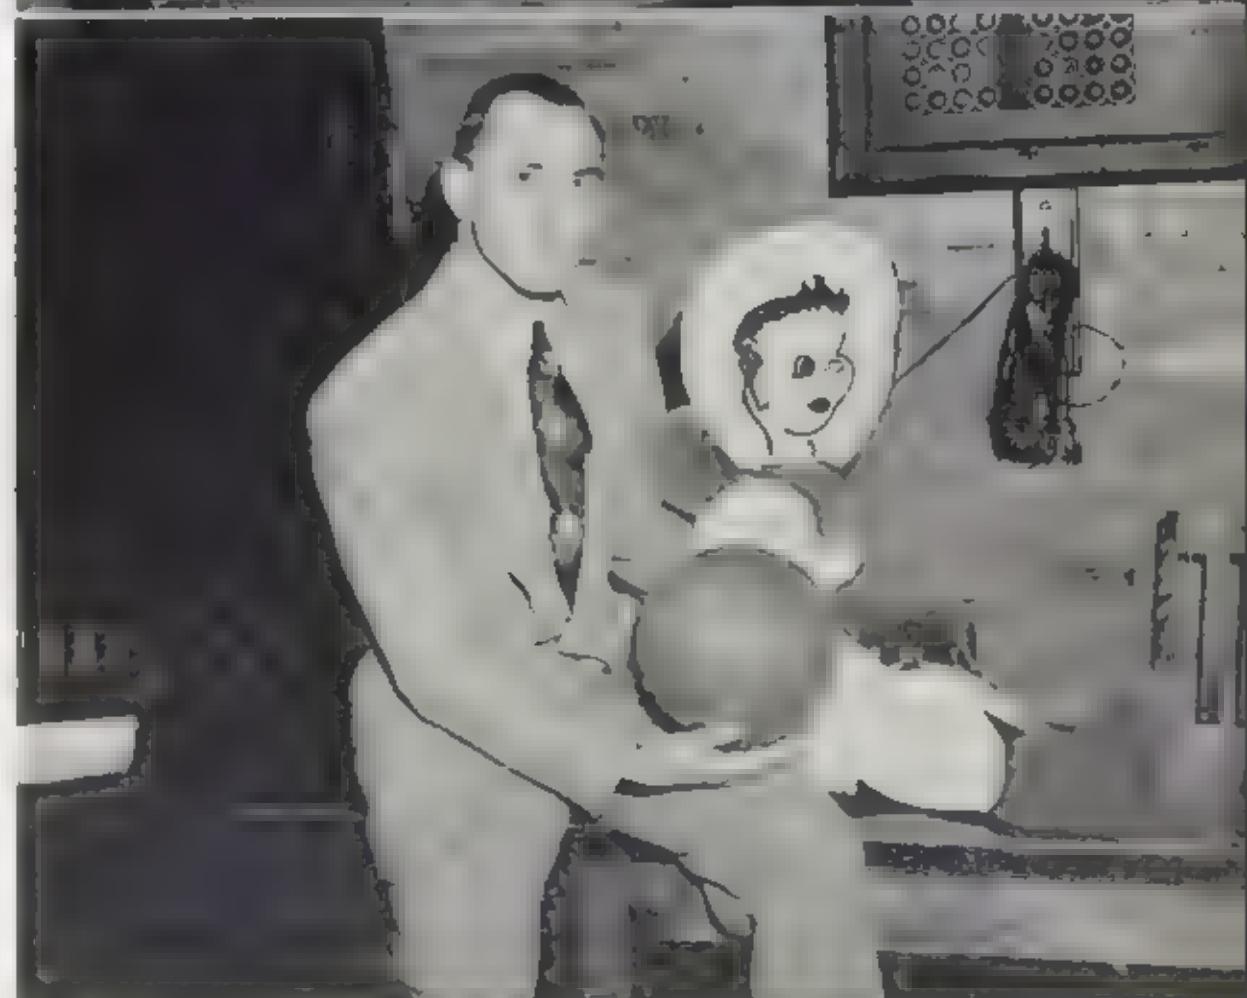

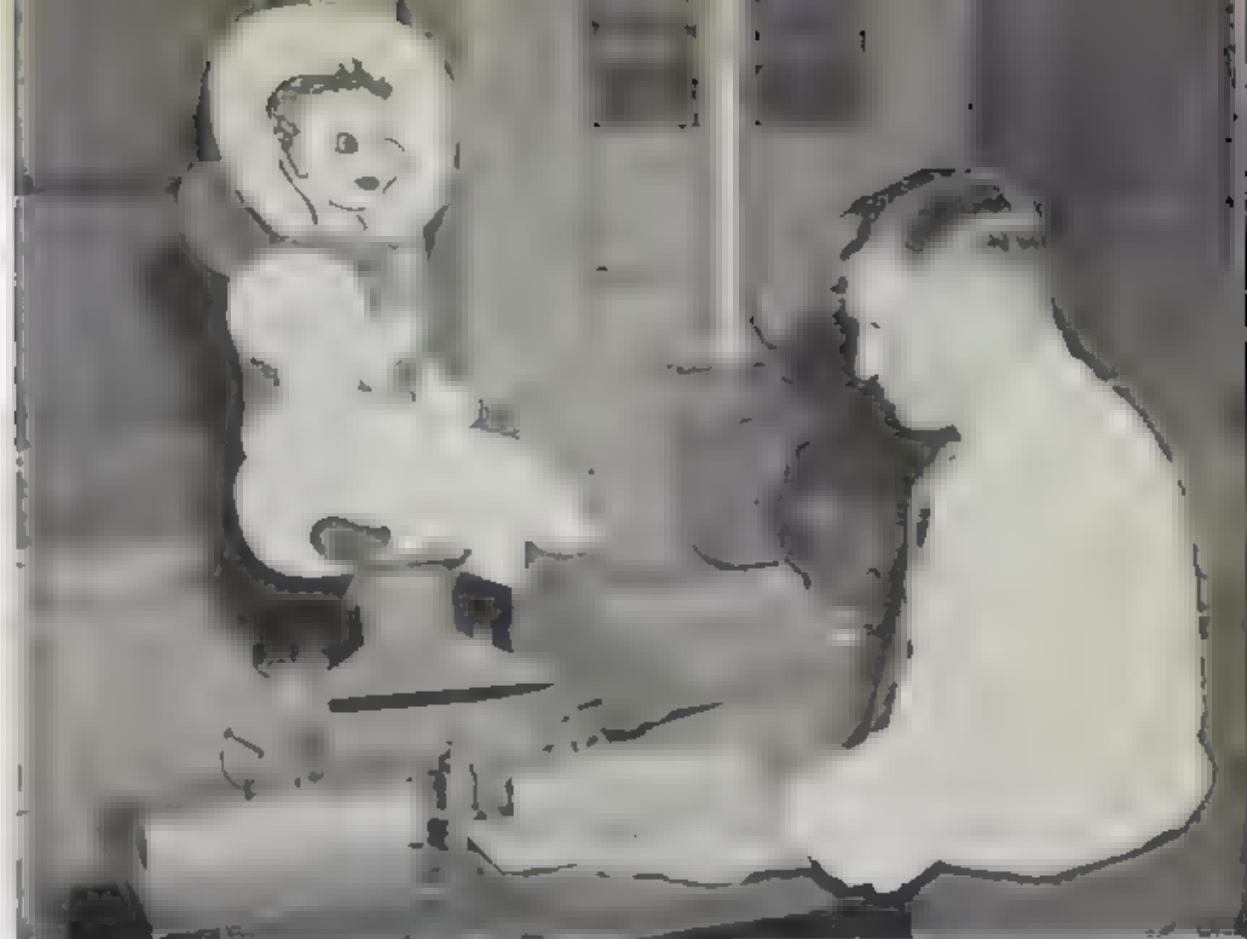

I dropped in on Glenn Spangler, a graduate of Ohio State University with a B.S. degree. He explained to me, as he does to many in his industrial arts class, the workings of, what seemed to me, a complicated machine which he called an electric drill

A room filled with the rhythmic clicking of typewriters drew my attention next. There I met Robert Steinbaugh, commercial subjects teacher, who graduated from Ohio State University with a B.S. and a M.A. degree

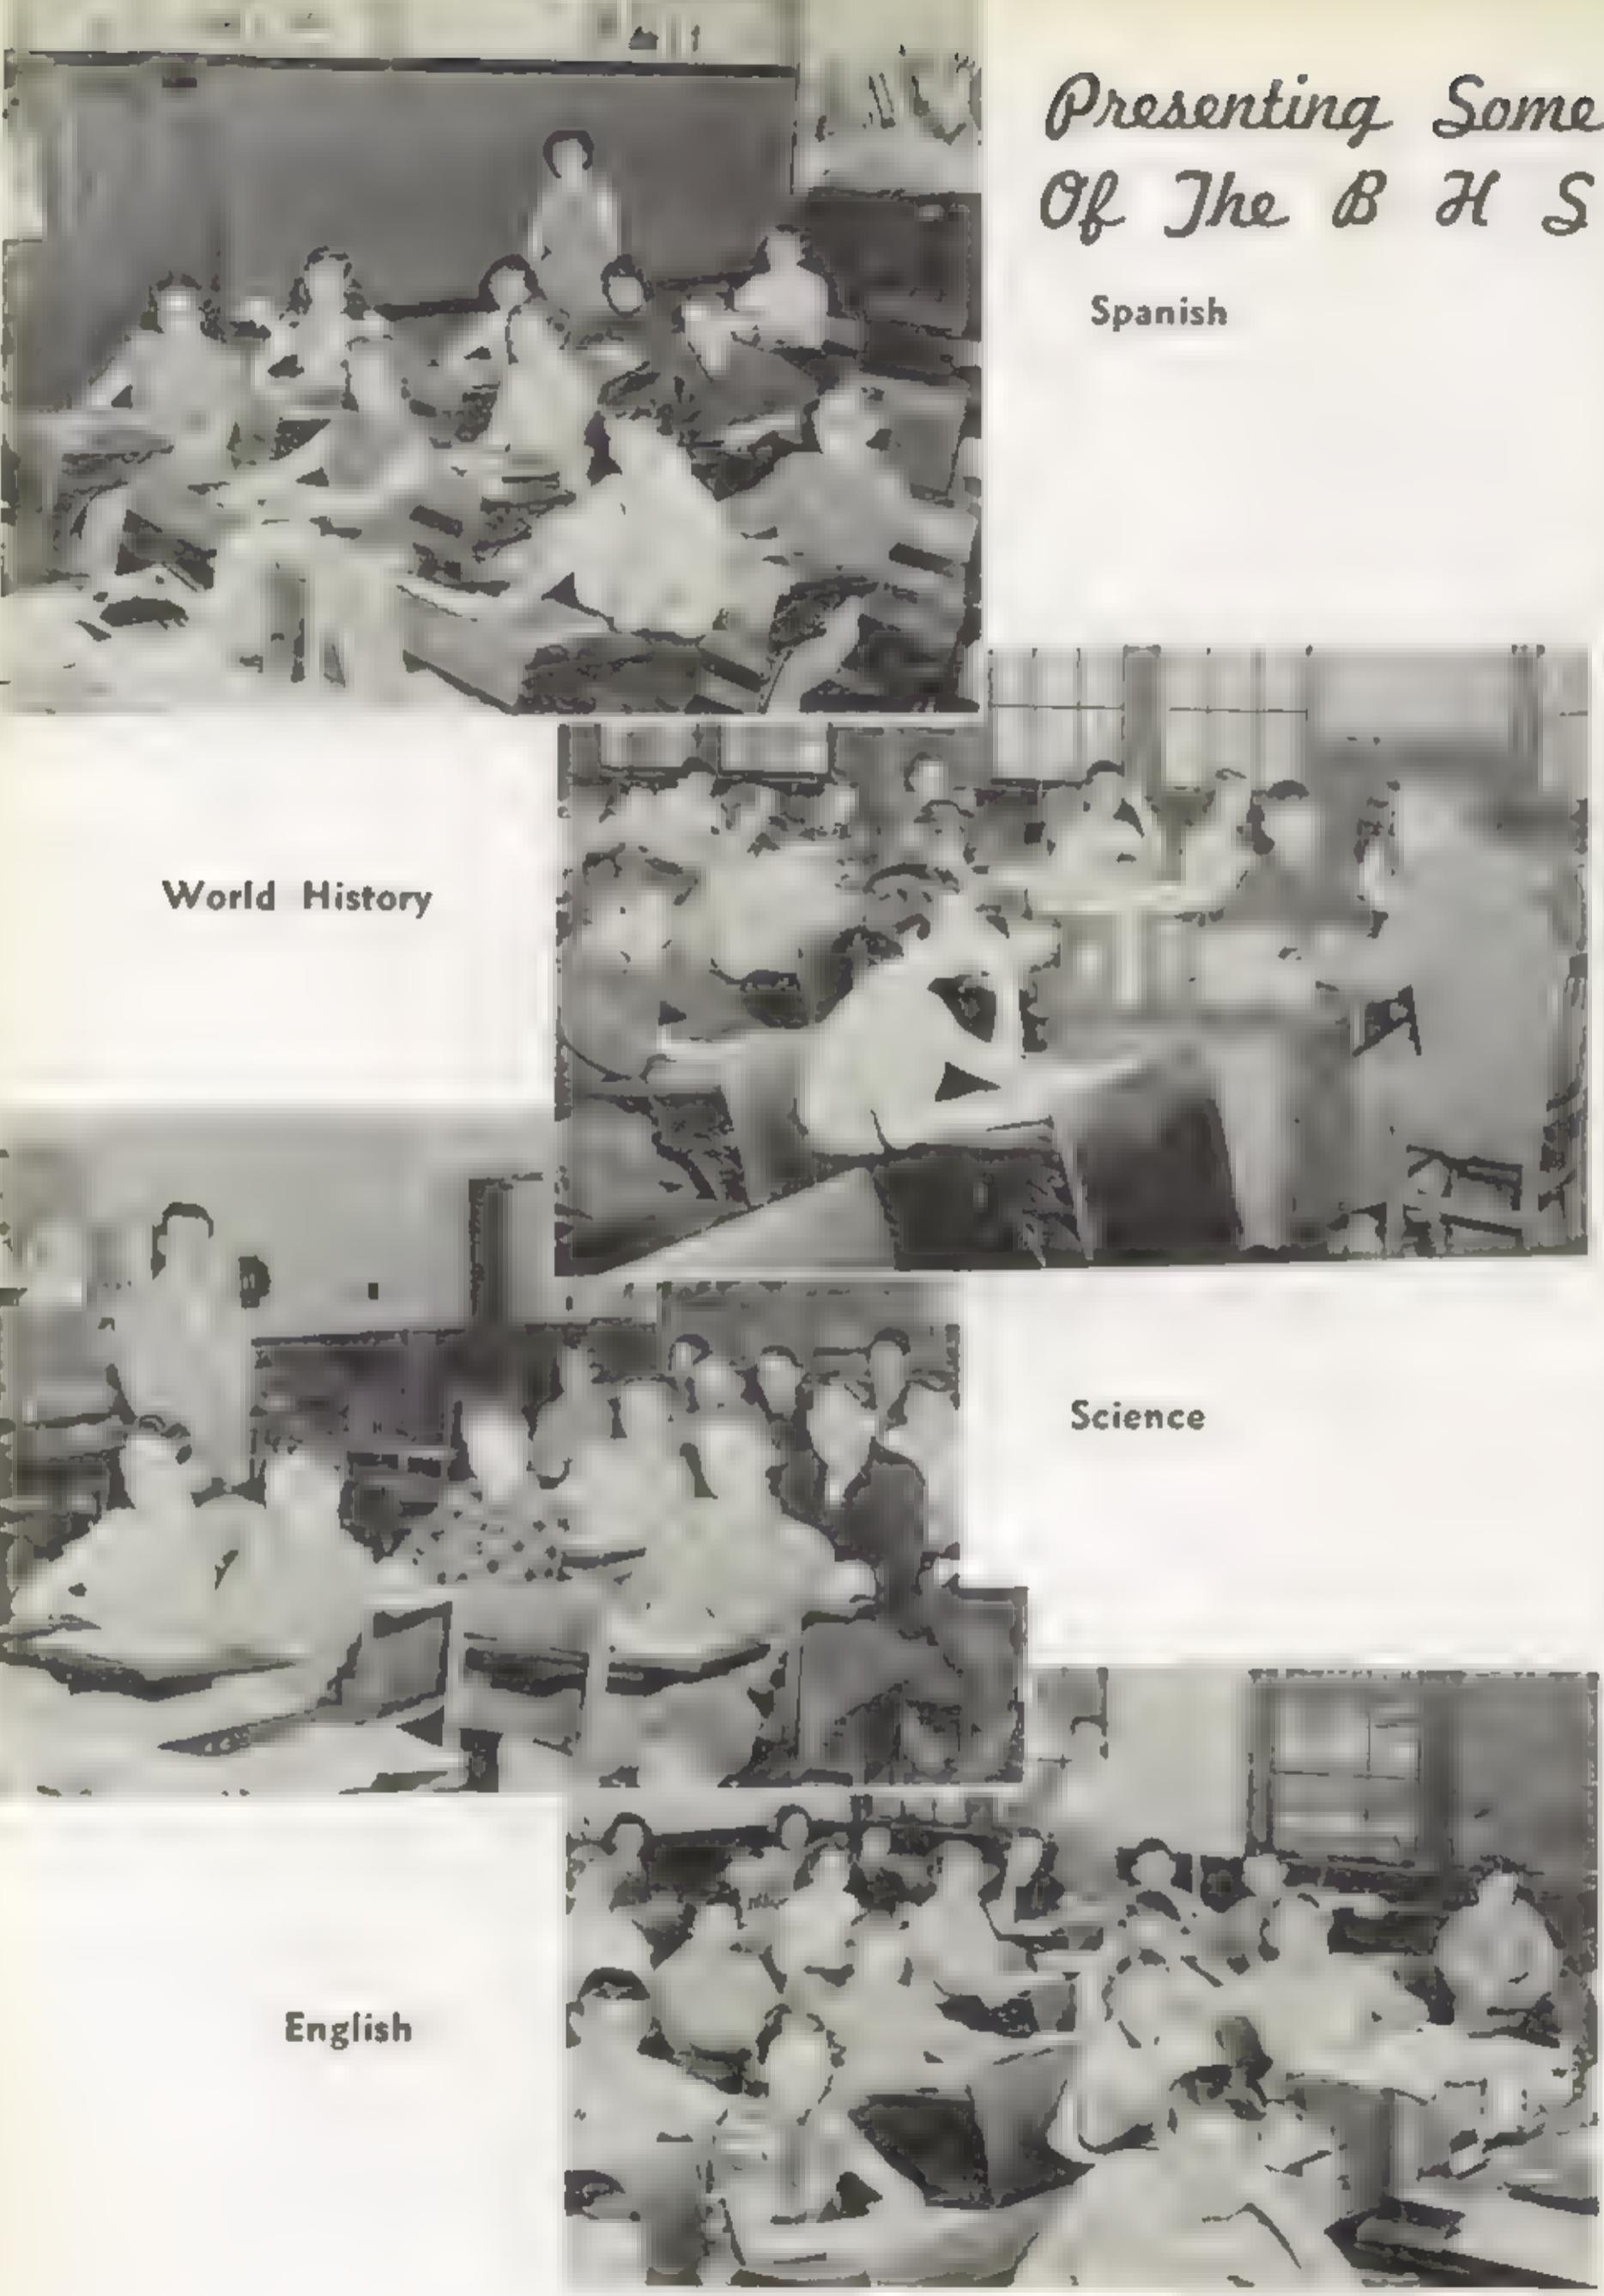

A graduate of Ohio State University with a B.A. degree and from the University of Michigan with a M.S. degree, Herbert Wolfe, science teacher, took time out to show me some of his fossils

The next department I visited was wood shop, where Cleo Yoder is the teacher. After showing me how to work an electric saw, he told me that he is a graduate of Bowling Green State University with a B.S. degree.

I visited Ivan Wilhelm, basketball coach, who showed me how to throw a basketball through a hoop. He graduated with a B.S. degree from Tulane University and now teaches math.

Adeline Wright handed me a copy of the Dial, the school newspaper, of which she is advisor. She is a graduate of Wellesly College with a B.A. degree and teaches English and math.

Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service are the essentials for membership in the National Honor Society.

Fourteen new members were initiated into the honor society during a surprise assembly on April 27 in the BHS auditorium. The four cardinal principles of the organization were given by the four members of the society who had been elected in their junior year.

To be eligible for membership, a student must rank in the upper third of his class. Each year, fifteen per cent of the senior class and five per cent of the junior class are elected to the National Honor Society.

Members of the local Alfred Ross Chapter of the National Honor Society are as follows:

SENIOR MEMBERS:

Nancy Consolo	*Ila Warner
Noel Curran	*Sharon Wills
Alice Erf	*Marilyn Yoder
Barbara Fox
Eileen Hertz
Hildegard Mueller
Barbara Swoebly
Eileen Whitely
Gloria Wild
*Carol Underdown

	Molly Furlong

	Tonya Ransom
	*elected when juniors

JUNIOR MEMBERS:

N. A. S. S.

"Brains, Brown, and Balanced Training" is the motto of the National Athletic Scholarship Society. The members must maintain a "B" average, or better, in school and have a major letter in a major sport or two minor letters in a sport.

The athletes meeting the requirements are selected by the coaches under the direction of the NASS advisor, Lowell Shaffer. If I ever return to BHS for more intensive research, I would like to be elected to this society of athletes.

Two juniors and two sophomores were elected to this honorary club. Present members who were elected last year are John Lepley, Dick Moyer, and Bob Baldwin.

I picked up a thumbed-through copy of a monthly newspaper called "The Dial" that was lying on the desk. Glancing quickly through its pages I became so excited that I shouted "Spectra!" and roared off into the publication room. There I found a complete source of information for my report. I learned so much about the students, their problems, and their opportunities in the Earth schools that by the time I returned to my desk, I was able to turn in a full report of the things going on here.

The Dial received a rating of "Excellent" in a judging conducted by the faculty of the Department of Journalism of the Bowling Green State University. A unique feature of this publication is that it does not have one editor-in-chief but is produced by a rotating group of editors.

"The Curious Savage," a three act Broadway comedy, was presented by the senior class in the BHS auditorium on May 14 and 15. The unusual plot took place at the "Cloisters," an exclusive mental institution. Mrs. Savage, a fantastically wealthy widow, is brought to the "Cloisters" by her three socially prominent step-children. At the institution Mrs. Savage meets some of the more "normal" patients who accept her immediately as a friend. When the Savages discover their stepmother has hidden the family wealth, they return to the "Cloisters." Amid the confusion, the bonds are found, then lost again, and finally recovered. Mrs. Savage is released from the sanitarium, a wealthy and completely free woman but her five friends are left behind, lost in their egg-shell world.

Junior Play

ADVISOR
Elizabeth Foulk

When my meteor stopped at B. H. S. on November 14, I was surprised to see that it was the night of the Junior class play, "A Lucky Penny." I stayed for the evening performance and it was Jupiter-colossal. Penny, the star of the play, turned her fancy to impressionistic art and tried to change her entire family into artists. Mother danced her way into the hearts of the audience while father played the trumpet into jail. Hulda added to the chaos by taking up the body beautiful. In all my days of the planets, I have never enjoyed a stellar performance more.

On the program handed to me, the following juniors were cast in the play:

Jan Benson	Penny
Eddie Roberts	Kerry
Dave VogelGreg
Sharon Panyard	Joanna
Molly Furlong	Grandma
Shirley Meyer	Mother
Pat Pasqualin	Hulda
Curtis Crews	Father
Bud Kryling	Mr. Daly
Bill Gaertner	Officer O'Shane
Janet Koechley	Miss Haskins
Maureen Moran	Georgiana
Sally Harpster	Vera
Tanya Ransom	Suzette
Dick Wing	Flash

Directors were Miss Elizabeth Foulk and Miss Erma Buffington. Student directors were Kay Smith and Wilma Geisler.
Rockets Away!!!

The many Xmas activities at BHS impressed me very much. I saw Miss Buffington in 108 putting the finishing touches on the tree, and in the front hall I found the Spanish students gathered around the tree singing carols in Spanish. At the FHA Xmas formal, "Winter Wonderland," I witnessed the crowning of the King and Queen of Good Will, Pat Herman and Roy Bauman

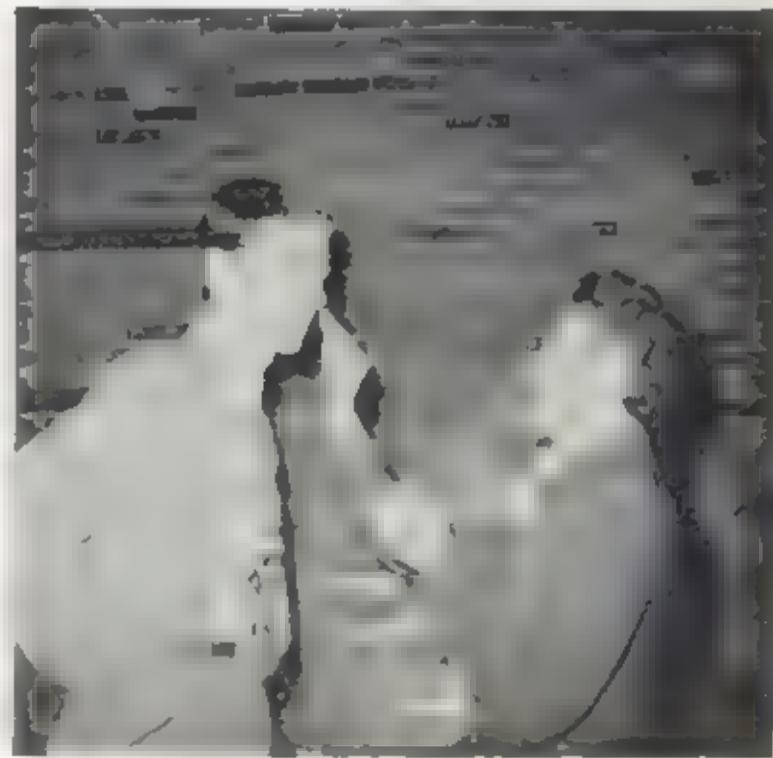

The two Christmas plays presented by the speech classes really got me into the Christmas Spirit. I'm surely glad my presents didn't get mixed up like they did in "Just What They Wanted." The absentmindedness of Gilbert Ash, played by Bob Herner, amused the audience. It showed how much trouble Christmas presents can cause. The other members of the cast were Sue Shannon, Gloria Wild, Carol Underdown and Bob Christman. Eileen Hertz was student director.

Christmas Plays

An Angel who came to earth in "The Song Of Glory" revealed the true meaning of Christmas to Alison Drew, played by Marilyn Yoder, who felt that the holiday was too commercialized. The angel, played by Nancy Consolo, pointed out that Christmas was more than giving and receiving gifts. The other members of the cast included Barbara Fox, Dorothy Stedman, Mike Straziuso, Danny Straziuso, Pete Frisch, Alice Erf, Sue Matz, Chuck Holmer, Hildegard Mueller, and Jim Ainslie, with Noel Curran, Eileen Whitely, and Harriett Lynch as extras. The spectators were members of speech classes. Sharon Wills was student director.

The national Hi-Y was created to give a high school boy a better chance to develop in himself those qualities which will fit him for leadership. The Bellevue chapter was started by a group of enthusiasts in the fall of 1929 with the co-operation of the school and the Y.M.C.A.

Its purpose "To Create, Maintain, and Extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character," has helped the Bellevue Chapter in its many undertakings throughout the year. Its agenda includes such speakers as Dr. Shumaker, Lowell Schaffer, Rev. Norman, Richard Glasgo, Rev. Meyer, and Noel Curran. Also among the public undertakings are selling and ushering at the annual "Y" Minstrel and sponsoring dances after the football and basketball games. The boys also sold the new pictures of the "Smiling Christ," and sent a representative to Columbus to the Youth and Government Program. The Mother-Son Banquet for Hi-Y boys and their mothers helped complete the successful year under the leadership of Mr. Herbert Wolfe, Mr. Jan Schaffer, and Robert Fulton.

Library Club

The Library Club was a source of information for this report, and the members of the club generously offered their services. I was able to thumb quickly through the pages of the many books in the BHS library and found many facts about the wonderful American schools. In the world of books I learned about American history, its plays, its movies and everything else that have helped it become a vast nation.

The Senior Stand was really my "second home" during football season. Besides being able to view the games from the windows, I had my fill of those swell hot-dogs, crisp popcorn, and juicy candy apples prepared by the senior workers. And we musn't forget Mr. Morris who was always on hand to help with first and last minute preparations.

Seniors—Jim Ainslie, Bob Christman, Alice Erf, Hilde Mueller, Jan Ruffing, Carol Underdown, Gloria Wild, Sharon Wills. Juniors—Jan Benson, Molly Furlong, Shirley Meyer, Sharon Panyard, Pat Pasqualin, Ed Roberts, Dave Vogel.

A group of the senior members were also associated with the Student Speaking Bureau, sponsored by Esther Schachtele. These students spoke to various clubs and organizations, gaining valuable experience.

"Clean and Forceful Writing" is the motto of the Quill and Scroll, the literary club for the "sky-writers" of BHS. To be eligible for membership a student must be in the upper third of the junior or senior class scholastically, and must have had printed a large amount of excellent material. After the publication of this extensive report, perhaps I shall be accepted as a member.

Initiates receive membership not only in the local club, but also in the International Honorary Society for High School Journalism. Their work must be approved by the national secretary of Quill and Scroll and the local advisor, Adeline Wright.

Student Council

Each Tuesday during the fifth period, a member from each homeroom went to the conference room. Upon investigation, I found they went to a Student Council meeting, similar to our Space Council that consists of a member from each planet. At these meetings they planned ways of bettering the school, discussed school problems, and originated projects. Some of the members attended a meeting of the Audio Visual Directors in Akron so they might examine new equipment for the school.

This year, by collecting sales tax stamps, the club purchased a new basketball scoreboard. They also furnished large posters bearing each player's name and number so that the players could be identified while playing on the gym floor.

All the Homecoming events were sponsored by this group, along with various other yearly accomplishments. To better the appearance of the school, they formed a speedy "picker-up" game whereby the students were to see how short they could cut the life of a scrap of paper lying on the floor. The council also decided on diplomas for graduation and set up a system for future cheerleaders to select their captain.

The members of the Student Council wear pins which have been designed for the National Association of Student Councils. The organization buys a pin for each member.

The members of the Latin Classes donned togas and presented Mount Olympus and all of its inhabitants. The gods who commanded the performance were well pleased

Homecoming

Well, chief, now I've seen everything! On the night of the Bellevue-Bucyrus tilt, a super convertible car pulled around the track. You could have knocked me over with an asteroid when I saw three girls smiling from the back seat. A wonderful device called a "P.A." system told us this was Homecoming Night and the three girls were underclassmen who were attendants to the queen: Ursela Zobec, frosh member who was claimed by Jim Koechley; sophomore attendant Nan Yundt, whose escort was Larry Ocker; and junior elect Janet Koechley, who was led away on the arm of Roger Ramsey.

As my eyes continued to represent flying saucers, another car pulled up and out stepped the two senior attendants, Gloria Wild and Eileen Whately. They were claimed respectively by Andy Missler and John Beiler (lucky boys). As I was hastily jotting down notes for my report, EUREKA! what came around the bend but another shiny convertible carrying Her Excellency Lorna Radkey, the Queen.

She was quickly whisked down an aisle of majorettes by Paul Schueler. They were preceded by the flower girl Scharyle Funk and the ring-bearer Jeff Crosby. After being crowned and presented with a royal bouquet by the two co-captains, the Queen and with her royal court were given choice seats to watch the game (which BHS won, incidentally).

Later I was a member of the stag-line at the dance given in Lorna's honor at the high school. Lorna and Paul had the traditional first dance. I tried to cut in but did not have much luck.

I learned much about football during the thrilling season with the BHS Redmen. Speedy Bob Hart crossed between the goal posts to score a total of 54 points. John Lepley kicked 15 good extra points making a total of 27 points for him. This achievement among others earned John the title of captain of the NOL team. Jim Windsor was voted outstanding lineman in the league. Pete Frisch and Ed Roberts had the good fortune of being elected to second team, and Brad Palmer was given Honorable Mention. Pete Frisch and Jim Windsor were also given Honorable Mention in the All Ohio League. And so it went with the Redmen completing a successful season under the direction of Coach Lowell Schaffer and his assistants, Dick MacNealy, and Joe Ayers.

Basketball is all over but the shouting. But before I put it back on the shelf for another year, there are a few odds and ends to clear up. Under the guidance of Coach Ivan Wilhelm, who encountered his first coaching assignment with the BHS cagers, the Redmen succeeded in capturing a part of the NOL title again this year when they tied with Bucyrus and Shelby for first place. In the individual scoring, Jim Windsor broke the school scoring mark when he netted 32 points in the Norwalk game. Bellevue won 12 games and lost 7; scoring 1249 points against 1123 for the opponents.

The freshmen had a good season too. Out of the nine games they had scheduled, the boys won eight victories with only one loss. Track

In the field of track, the BHS tracksters won the Northern Ohio League track meet at Willard by compiling a total of 85 $\frac{3}{4}$ points. On different noons during the week I often heard what sounded like rather feminine yells coming from the gym and when I looked in, I received a big startle for I saw earth-women participating in games which I thought only earth-men did.

After talking with their commander, Mrs Pendleton, I learned they were participating in intramurals games. When a girl earns 80 points, she is eligible to become a member of the G. A. A., Girls Athletic Association. Then when she earns 250 points she gets a big "B".

In December they sponsored a Volleyball Sports Day, with Fremont, Norwalk, Willard, Sandusky and Bellevue participating. Their first project this year was sponsoring the annual snake dance to open the football season. I rushed over to the field to learn about snake dances; to see footballs falling from the sky; and then practically torn apart in a tug of war. Bill Tibbles can now be informed that his team won only because a Martian bumped into Bob Christman and pushed him over. Then at other times during the year, the different groups at BHS attended other schools' schools' Sports Day.

An unusual presentation took place in the BHS as the Junior High students enacted the "Ohio Story" in song, dance, and drama. In observance of the Sesquicentennial, the Junior High devoted their annual music performance to a two hour panorama of Buckeye History. A narrator unfolded the history of Ohio; its first inhabitants—the Indians and French settlers. Various phases of history were highlighted by dramatic sketches, songs, and dances. It was the story of stout men and brave women who, from savage wilderness made a great state.
